

Slide 1 - What do you see?
Slide 2 - Picture of a boy toddler at a piano seen in normal vision
Slide 3 - What do the 120,116 people who are blind and visually impaired in Kentucky see?
Slide 4 - Picture seen earlier with loss of central vision - macular degeneration
Slide 5 - Picture seen earlier with loss of parts of the visual field - diabetic retinopathy
Slide 6 - Picture seen earlier with tunnel vision - retinitis pigmentosa
Slide 7 - What are you thankful for this holiday season?
Slide 8 - We're thankful to be able to provide opportunities for individuals to learn, share, and grow
Slide 9 - We need your gift today to help us provide life-changing services
Slide 10 - Where would you turn if you began to lose your vision?
Slide 11 - Picture of Paul Wiese, who is visually impaired, at desk
Slide 12 - 700 Kentuckians affected by a loss of sight turned to Bluegrass Council of the Blind this year
Slide 13 - Picture of Martha Wilhoit, who is blind, smiling at camera
Slide 14 - Our Peer Support and Assistive Technology and Training Programs are essential for people with low to no vision
Slide 15 - Reads Assistive Technology and Training with picture of staff member training on a machine that can take a picture and read text
Slide 16 - Reads Group Meetings with a picture of a Peer Support meeting
Slide 17 - Reads advocacy with a picture of Theresa Thomas, Andy Barr, and Deb Lewis of Greater Louisville Council of the Blind
Slide 18 - Reads education with a picture of Theresa Thomas and Joyce McGuire talking with a group of 1st graders at Seton Catholic
Slide 19 - Our programs result in independence, safety, inclusion, confidence, and opportunities
Slide 20 - Picture of Charles Sidney, who is blind, smiling at camera
Slide 21 - On KY Gives Day, December 1st, Invest in the Vision of the Bluegrass kygives.org
Slide 22 - Picture of Susan Ament and Judy Potter at the Arboretum for a community outing
Slide 23 - Quote "It has made me 100% more independent."
Slide 24 - Picture of Theresa Thomas training Curtis Harlin on assistive technology
Slide 25 - Quote "You have been an invaluable recourse of hope and resources for me."
Slide 26 - Theresa Thomas, Alison Flanagan of Office for the Blind, and Susan Ament
Slide 27 - Give the Gift of Independence
Slide 28 - Picture of Sara Faulkner and Gary Knack, who is blind
Slide 29 - Quote "We can do most things a sighted person can do, we just have to learn to do them a little differently."
Slide 30 - Theresa Thomas using a CCTV to read a brochure

Slide 31 - Bluegrass Council of the Blind logo, reads Celebrating 40 Years of Service